

Application number: 09/901,961
Examiner: Hillery, Nathan

Filing Date: 07/10/2001
Art Unit: 2176

Abstract

A method and system of organizing and searching Chinese words comprises word storage structure having words indexed by the meanings, by the radicals, by the strokes and by the usage frequency thereof; said storage structure separating the traditional form words and the simplified form words; said storage structure having reference linkage for the two forms; said storage structure using multiple listing for common words; said storage structure having mechanism for relocating words; said method and system utilizing existing regular computer components, utilizing existing Chinese operating systems and word processing programs.